

Community In Bloom Awards 2014

Community In Bloom

NParks has been spearheading the Community In Bloom (CIB) programme to create gardening communities within housing estates, educational institutions and organisations in Singapore by partnering various stakeholders including residents, government agencies, grassroots organisations, schools and organisations.

Today, we have more than 700 CIB Gardens in Singapore.

Community In Bloom Awards

Community In Bloom Awards aims to:

- Recognise and reward gardening efforts by community gardening groups
- Motivate and encourage community gardeners to enjoy gardening as a fun and healthy activity
- Set & improve the standards of community gardens located in communal spaces
- Spread the gardening bug to others in the community so that they too can discover the joy of gardening

CIB Awards 2014 – Milestones

CIB Award 2014 - Panel of Judges

Four Categories of Community Gardens

Public Housing Estates

Community gardens cultivated by residents on common green spaces within public housing estates. The project is managed by Residents' Committees.

Private Housing Estates

Community gardens cultivated by residents on roadside green verges in front of landed homes, in neighbourhood parks, or on common green spaces within highrise private estates. The project is managed by Neighbourhood Committees.

Educational Institutions

Gardens cultivated by students, teachers & parent volunteers on green spaces within the school premises. The project is managed by schools' environmental clubs.

Organisations

Community gardens cultivated by staff or volunteers on green spaces within the organisation's premises or in common green spaces within a housing estate. The project is managed by the organisation's gardening interest group.
