

Community In Bloom Awards 2016

Community In Bloom (CIB)

NParks has been spearheading the Community In Bloom (CIB) programme to create gardening communities within housing estates, educational institutions and organisations in Singapore by partnering various stakeholders including residents, government agencies, grassroots organisations, schools and organisations.

Today, we have over 1000 CIB groups in Singapore.

Community In Bloom (CIB) Awards

The biennial CIB Awards aim to promote the gardening movement by fulfilling these objectives.

Objective:

- Recognise and reward gardening efforts by community gardening groups
- Motivate and encourage community gardeners to enjoy gardening as a fun and healthy activity
- Set and improve the standards of community gardens located in communal spaces

Singapore Garden Festival
23 - 31 July 2016
at Gardens by the Bay

Four Categories of Community Gardens

Public Housing Estates

Community gardens cultivated by residents on common green spaces within public housing estates. The project is managed by Residents' Committees.

Private Housing Estates

Community gardens cultivated by residents on roadside green verges in front of landed homes, in neighbourhood parks, or on common green spaces within highrise private estates. The project is managed by Neighbourhood Committees.

Educational Institutions

Gardens cultivated by students, teachers & parent volunteers on green spaces within the school premises. The project is managed by schools' environmental clubs.

Organisations

Community gardens cultivated by staff or volunteers on green spaces within the organisation's premises or in common green spaces within a housing estate. The project is managed by the organisation's gardening interest group.

Summary of Judging Criteria

a) Community Involvement

- Number of volunteers
- Activities conducted
