Home-School Collaboration

The supportive parent working with the school

Providing support to your child at home

On a daily basis:

- Express care and concern
- Reduce anxiety and stress by providing the child sufficient time for rest and play
- Provide timely and specific praises
- Engage in positive conversations with your child, focus on what went well.

Providing support to your child at home

Encourage your child to be responsible and independent:

(1) Set Routines & timetable

- Set routines together with your child
- Establish a timetable to follow at home.
- Enforce it consistently

(2) Monitor your child's homework

- Teach your child to check his/her Student's Handbook
- Instil a daily routine of self- revision at home
- Take note of messages from teacher (PG/ClassDojo)

Parents as Partners

- It is important for the students to know that the teachers and parents are in the same team.
- A positive relationship between parents and teachers will result in a happier school experience for the child.
- Listen to your child. If you have concerns, avoid reacting. Respond calmly and say, “Let me clarify with your teacher”.

Homework Policy

Level	Total Estimated Time Spent on School Work Daily
P1& P2	30 minutes to 1 hour

Teachers monitor the total amount of homework given to your child by using the Homework Board in Classroom

Good habits to adopt - Homework

- Check Student's Handbook for homework everyday
- Maintain a homework folder. Check it regularly and clear out unwanted paper
- Return the homework into the school bag immediately upon completion.

Good habits to adopt

GOOD HABITS

These are some good habits I must have

- check and pack my bag everyday
- complete my homework on time
- sharpen and bring my pencils and colour pencils
- check that I have food/money for recess and snack break for the next school day
- memorize my parent's contact number
- write down any passwords for online portals in my student handbook
- write down my homework in my student handbook and check it before I sleep every day

Good habits to adopt

Set aside time every night to read with/for your child

INSIGHT

1 WEEK | JANUARY 6, 2023 | THE STRAITS TIMES

Parents want well-read kids, but are they themselves reading?

Books power learning, but parents too need to embrace this ethos of reading to really take flight.

Josephine Chia

Twice this month, I was awarded the Singapore Book of the Year award for my book, How to Read a Book. It was a great honor, but it also reminded me of a conversation I had with a friend who said, "I want my kids to be well-read, but I don't read myself." This is a common sentiment among parents who want their children to be successful in a world that values literacy. However, the reality is that many parents who claim to value reading do not read themselves. This is a problem because children learn by example. If a parent does not read, it is difficult for the child to see the value of reading. Therefore, if parents want their children to be well-read, they must first be well-read themselves. This means setting aside time every night to read, even if it is just for a few minutes. Reading is not just a hobby; it is a habit that can shape a child's future. So, if you want your child to be a well-read, start by reading yourself. It is the best gift you can give them.

Children are curious spirits, constantly yearning for adventure and spicing for a new discovery. Learning comes naturally to them, but reading takes this further by opening the mind to new possibilities and cultivating a sense of imagination.

Parents are curious spirits, constantly yearning for adventure and spicing for a new discovery. Learning comes naturally to them, but reading takes this further by opening the mind to new possibilities and cultivating a sense of imagination.

These modern times of artificial intelligence (AI) and social media have nurtured people's creativity through their power consciousness.

However, artificial AI is...

Mathematics @ PEPS

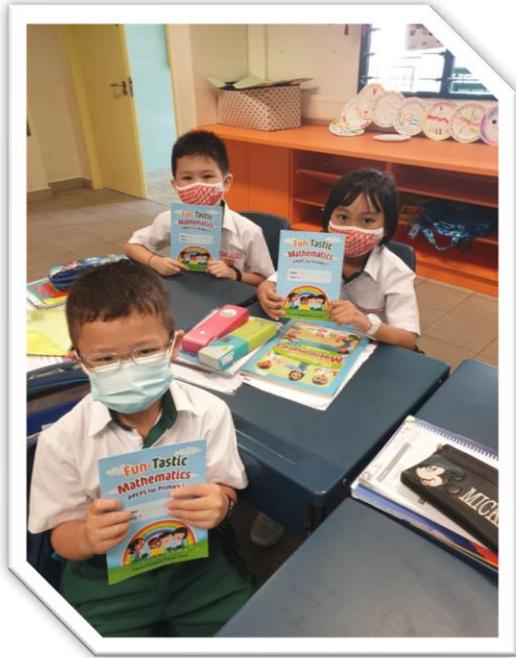

Mathematics @ PEPS

P1 Numeracy Programme

Instil the joy of learning Mathematics and level up fundamental numeracy skills.

P1 Shopping Experience

An authentic learning experience where students 'buy' items within a budget and receive 'change'. It develops an awareness towards the use of money in the real world.

Mathematics @ PEPS

With problem solving as the core of Singapore Mathematics Curriculum, students can develop in their skills in solving mathematical problems through a range of situations which includes non-routine, open-ended and real-world problems.

Equipping our students with rigorous learning experiences

Design a hat and sing a number song

Mathematics @ PEPS

STEM FEST: Provide opportunities for students to recognise the importance of Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics and appreciate its use in addressing real-world problems.

Inspiring students through hands-on activities and an exciting line up of events

An environment for students to be curious about solving future problems

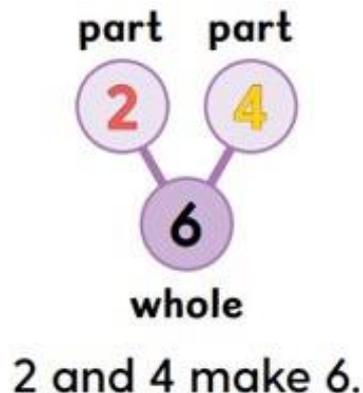

School-Home Partnership

Our students do best when schools and parents work hand in hand to support them

Do support the learning of your child in Math by

Monitor your child's work

- Have a daily routine of math exercises daily
- Ensure timely completing and submission of homework
- Encourage them to check their work for accuracy and not speed.
- Ensure that they have shown you their work and filed it properly to facilitate revision.
- Develop factual Fluency of Basic Math Fact e.g Number Bonds

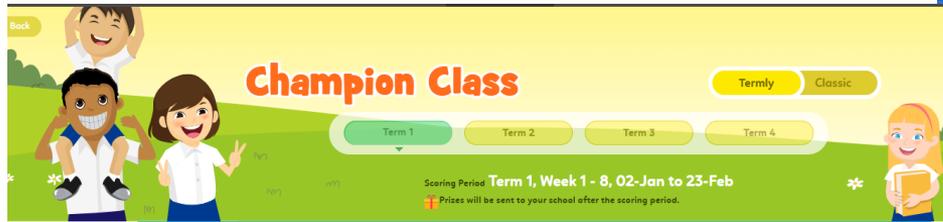

School-Home Partnership

Our students do best when schools and parents work hand in hand to support them

Koobits

- Interactive, fun and engaging way in getting students to master Mathematics
- Promotes self-directed learning

- Affirm and praise the effort he/she has put in the subject
- Provide joy of learning via physical or digital math games logic puzzles and math magazines
- Discuss the use of Math in daily life such as shopping experience, telling time etc
- Guide them to manage their stress by looking out for any change in behaviour or temperament.

MTL @ PEPS

Modeled Sustained Silent Reading 身教式持续安静阅读

15 minutes read

One period per week
(15 minutes read, 15 minutes share.)

- Students are allowed to take charge of their own reading.
- They are free to choose books that interest them, instead of being assigned specific books to read.
- The classroom is quiet for 15 minutes. The teacher is sitting at his/her desk reading a book of his/her choice. Each student in the class is sitting at his/her desk, silently reading a book of choice.
- Students form their reading habit by regular immersion in a conducive environment for individual silent reading during curriculum time.
